The focus of this research is Bullying Prevention in Makassar City. This study aims to determine the extent of students' understanding and knowledge of bullying and what actions parents and teachers take against victims and perpetrators. This study uses a descriptive method with a qualitative approach that emphasizes data in the form of interviews and document review. The research sample was 22 people. This research instrument used; questionnaire, observation and document review, then analyzed and developed in narrative form.

The results showed that there were still students who did not understand what and how bullying is. And for students who already know, they get information about bullying from social media. Some students and parents only understand that bullying is when there is physical contact between the perpetrator and the victim. Even though bullying also occurs verbally, namely when there is a special title or nickname that is less pleasing from the perpetrator to the victim. Sometimes students are afraid to report to their parents or teachers when they experience bullying for fear of getting more painful treatment from the perpetrator.

From the results of this study, one form of education on the protection and prevention services of bullying in Makassar City that researchers can do is through Community Services about what, how and what to do when bullying practices occur in the environment.
